

Parenting Fund: Governance and Accountability Workshop

What is the workshop about?

The public has high expectations for transparency and accountability in the charity sector, perhaps due to their role as both funders and beneficiaries of charitable services. In recent years, public demand has led to new regulatory requirements and corporate reforms, which have been a driving force behind the improvement of governance across the private, public and not for profit sectors. Among the benefits of best practice governance and accountability, are superior reputations and fewer incidences of non-compliance with legal obligations.

What will I get out of the workshop?

Workshop participants will leave the day with an insight into best practice for governance and accountability and will have started to think about how to apply this to their own organisation. Participants will also be more informed to consider the tailored support they would like to receive from the Parenting Fund in the future.

Please note that this workshop is aimed at Trustees, Chief Executives and Senior Management.

What aspects will be covered?

The workshop will include:

- Best practice governance and accountability
- The implications of break downs in governance and accountability
- The roles and responsibilities of management and trustees
